Mission

The Fund To Promote Awareness of Occupational Therapy is a 501(c)(3) charitable organization, committed to ongoing resource development to support targeted education, research, and professional development opportunities that will increase the public's understanding of occupational therapy.

The Fund exists to achieve greater understanding, availability, and use of occupational therapy and to promote the profession's contributions to health, wellness, participation, productivity, and quality of life in society.

Vision

The Fund To Promote Awareness of Occupational Therapy facilitates society's understanding of and demand for occupational therapy, and the profession's capacity to bring its virtues to more people in existing and future practice and policy environments.

Programs and Projects

- Awareness Toolkits covering various occupational therapy practice settings
- National Awareness initiatives, including Occupational Therapy Month efforts and National School Backpack Awareness Day
- Silent Auction Fundraiser held at AOTA's Annual Conference & Expo
- Baseline consumer research regarding occupational therapy perceptions
- It Takes Occupational Therapy video
- Consumer Tip Sheets

Your tax-deductible donation will go directly to help The Fund To Promote Awareness of Occupational Therapy to establish programs and projects that promote awareness and visibility for the occupational therapy profession.
